

Iris Information Committee Report

When I presented my report last fall I had every intention of following through as outlined. However, I did not take into consideration the many registrations that would come in the very last days of the 2006 registration year nor did I count on my webmaster being immersed in the 2006 R&I until mid-February. Last but not least, our daughter announced a wedding date of May 26, reception to be held here. Please think of us as we finalize plans to get Hannah married off (for the second time!) I must say that this is a wonderful, if harrowing, opportunity to get this place spruced up inside and out. The food is the fun and easy part.

Now that I have laid out all these excuses I will cut to the chase: I have not done anything with the website www.irisinfo.org which is up and waiting. Much of what I had planned to put up has already appeared on the AIS website so all is not lost. Indeed, I wonder if I am duplicating prior efforts.

Although there have been less requests than there usually are, we have continued to provide answers to queries as our time and resources allow. Since this committee is not listed in the Bulletin masthead, it may be that those who want to know will contact us anyway and this committee may well be overkill. Hopefully during the summer we can catch up or at least make a start and then we shall see. By the Fall Board meeting we should have a better handle on the efficacy of this endeavor.

We shall miss seeing all of you in Oklahoma--we attended our very first convention there in 1988 and were looking forward to returning. And so it goes...
